HOW TO BE A GOOD ROOMMATE

Take time to get to know one another. Ask how your roommate's day was, or discuss what you did on campus in between classes. By showing interest in each other's lives, you will build a rapport and potentially a friendship.

Five helpful tips:

- COMMUNICATE

If a problem occurs, it is best to talk about it rather than try to ignore it and let it get worse. Be up front about your expectations, set boundaries, and stick with them. This applies to food, cleaning, activities, etc.

- RESPECT EACH OTHER'S PRIVACY AND PERSONAL SPACE

This is very important when living together.

- BE RESPONSIBLE

Early on, discuss what chores might need to be done and who will do which ones. It is important to follow through on those obligations. If you say you will pick up your dirty laundry, then do it.

- COMPROMISE

Not everyone has the same idea about what it means to live with another person. You can't ask your roommate to change if you are not willing to as well.

- BE COURTEOUS

Keep in mind, you might be a night owl, and you may live with an early riser who goes to bed before you. Find ways not to disturb one another.
